Simply the Best

When an emergency presents itself, only the best will do... The best people, the best experience, the best knowledge, and the best equipment. So, when an emergency arose and an extremely dimensional transformer had to be moved... SRT was contacted to move this massive power generating cargo. This first shipment for SRT's brand new 20-axle railcar presented many challenges. Time was of the essence, and mobilization of the 20-axle railcar, caboose, and crew required intense coordination between SRT, multiple railroads, vendors, and partners. Clearances, coordination with rigging, inspections, and expediting transit over a holiday weekend were also key in this successful delivery.

Long Distance

Sometimes cargo can take long journeys from origin to destination. These vessels are certainly no exception! They had a long distance to travel on rail... with a twist. These extra long vessels traveled clear across the country on rail, then over water, while still on the railcars, and then back to dry land to complete the rail journey from the Gulf Coast to Alaska. While not the first time SRT has handled shipments along this route, each shipment presents new and exciting challenges and opportunities.

Keep an Eye Out...

SRT is about to release the latest and greatest updated drawing of our 20-axle railcar! This will include updated information, hot off the presses. Keep an eye out in your email for it, coming to an Inbox near you shortly.
